The GTAA and Switch Health recently commenced a paid testing program in the Value Park Garage. In support of Toronto Pearson employees, the GTAA and Switch Health are introducing reduced pricing for PCR and Antigen COVID-19 tests for asymptomatic airport workers. As part of a grand-opening promotion, reduced pricing is also available to members of airport workers' households for a limited time (until October 31, 2021).

To receive the reduced pricing for airport workers, individuals must present valid airport ID (RAIC or equivalent) at the testing appointment. In addition, airport workers must accompany their household family members to the test site in order for them to receive the reduced pricing. Testing appointments will be available at the Switch Health Clinic located at the Value Park Garage on Level 3.

Full details are available at www.torontopearson.com/healthyemployees.

This new service is an exciting step forward, which was made possible by an earlier federally funded COVID-19 testing research study, led by the GTAA.

Thank you for your cooperation as we continue to evolve COVID-19 safety protocols and protect the Toronto Pearson workforce.
